Class History

On September 6, 1947, in a veritable "Charge of the Light Headed Brigade," 91 freshmen stormed and seized W. H. S. with the thought, "Do or Die, and Have Fun on the Way." The official motto was and still is "When you come to the door of success, you will find it labeled "PUSH."

They pushed and pushed hard. They proved themselves able to hold up their end by going all out for basketball, football, track, music, Hi-Y, Y-Teen, and dramatics, not to mention a little study now and then. They were a long way from being the seniors of '51 but they were trying hard.

In the school year of 48-49 there were 80 sophomores roaming the halls of W. H. S. and they really were somebody now. The seniors spoke to them and the freshmen got out of their way.

They did all right in the extra-curricular activities as the record shows. Twelve boys and twelve girls were out for basketball. Five girls won major letters and seven won minor letters in basketball. One boy won a major letter in basketball. Two boys won major and ten minor letters in football. Six boys were out for track.

They were spread liberally through such music groups as band, glee club, mixed chorus, sextet, trio, and many others. Two sophomores were cheerleaders, two were Y-Teen officers, and two were Hi-Y officers.

The school year of 49-50 arrived. They were juniors and wore the nonchalant air of upper classmen. They weren't snobs about it though, and they really proved their worth. Take sports for example. Eight boys won major and three minor letters in football. Ten boys were out for basketball.

Six junior girls went to Des Moines to help bring back the Iowa State Girl's Basketball Tournament consolation trophy. Six other girls were out for basketball.

One junior was a cheerleader. Thirteen juniors were band members and several others were in the various other musical groups. The junior class play was "The Brain Storm." Seventeen juniors had speaking parts.

As the junior year came to a screaming and spectacular end, the summer also was left behind in a dream of palm trees and balmy trade winds. Then out of the night came the thundering bells of school and in a cloud of dust comes a hearty cry of "Hi, ho, High School." The seniors of '51 ride again!

They were everywhere doing everything. Sixteen were out for football, nine boys and five girls were out for basketball, four boys were on the Hi-Y cabinet, seven girls on the Y-Teen cabinet, five boys were on the F. F. A. cabinet, and one on F. H. A. cabinet. In the all-school play eight seniors had speaking parts.

The football team was conference champ. The girls basketball team went triumphantly back to state tournament.

The seniors of '51 have proved themselves superior among the classes in the history of Winterset High School, and wish to express their thanks to anyone who may have helped to put them there.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of W.H.S. the year 1951, being of sound mind, perfect judgment, and untold knowledge, realizing that we are the most extraordinary class which has trod the halls of W.H.S., do hereby bequeath our earthly possessions as follows:

Joan Crawford and Maurie Wilson leave just the way they came---together.

Verle Honnold leaves his track medals to Delene Thompson since she already has the rest of his things.

Dale Addy wills his football suit to Gailen Palmer. After all, Gailen is rough and tough.

Jerry Butler leaves all the Earlham girls to John Flannery. Remember their names, John, and keep them entertained.

Viola Hartman's bashfulness goes to John Hart, who could use a little.

Jack Ringgenberg leaves nothing as he is happy to be leaving.

Lynn Mark wills his mouth to Richard Greenwood. Hope it isn't too tiresome, Rich.

Mary Jo Martin wills her basketball suit to Martha Foreman. Use Hadacol to reduce, Martha. It works.

Shirley LeCocq leaves her long curly hair to Barbara Thomsen. Won't Barbara look funny.

Delmar Jacobe wills his whiskers to John Clark----all six of them. Think of that, John.

Bill Kiddoo leaves Patty Mitchell to stand in the lower hall and talk to herself.

Caroline Macumber leaves her sister Jane to keep the boys happy.

Marvin Lyddon wills his red hair to Carol Shearer, who already has a good start.

Ralph Baker leaves his good looks to Ann Drake so she can vamp Richard Nelson.

Marjorie Clarke wills her love-making ability to Bessie McCarthy.

Wayne Breeding and Marjorie Mackay will their peroxide to Bill Davis. Use it on your hair instead of drinking it, Bill.

Darlene Ackelson and Emily Lord leave their quiet ways to Bob Clark and Byron Weems.

Ray Garrett wills his artistic ability to Marilyn Stevens.

Bill Van Werden leaves his strut to Patsy Wilson.

Rebecca Cameron and Charles Carey leave together. Do you think you can break them apart?

Arthur Wright finally leaves.

Glen Seward wills his Atlas form to Joe Hamand.

Donald Clark and Robert Darnell leave their manly physiques to Robert Kuhns and Carl Henry.

Dick Donovan leaves with a grin.

Norma Ingraham, Vivian Mapes, and Joan Jackson leave to be with their fiances.

Jim Chapman leaves his high science I.Q. to Marilyn Cline.

Marilyn Donovan leaves her many boyfriends. On second thought, she takes them with her for company.

Verna Keltner and Darlene Bruett leave their friendship to the sophomore girls and Lloyd Bartlett.

Sponsored by RYAN PLUMBING & HEATING

Charles Tuttle leaves his front seat in social problems to Betty Haun so Betty can be at the head of the class.

Pearla Pinckney and Ardeth Williams leave their belongings to the school, but their memories go to the armed services.

David Kent and Kenneth Roberts will their friendly ways to Betty Schutz and Dorothy Keating.

Jim Haun and LeRoy Worm leave their jobs of running the school to Mr. Miller so he can have the opportunity to run it for once.

Norma Jean McKinzie and Lois Veltman will their places on the honor roll to Gary Simmons and Charles Driscoll, but it is up to them to keep their names on it.

Vanna Lee Young leaves to be a Cook. It doesn't say what kind.

Jim Breeding wills his nickname "Lard" to anyone who wants it.

Duane and Marvin Gilleland leave Ruby to carry on the famous Gilleland name.

Tom Wallace wills his height to the giant Ray Parker. It sure will help.

Yvonne Conard leaves running for the Aldo Cafe.

Glen Buckles leaves his car to Lewis Young and Shirley Allen for moonlight cruises.

Barbara Clarkson leaves her place at the hospital to Hubert Wilkinson since he likes to cut up.

Pat Howell leaves to join the navy----excuse me, I mean the waves---in San Diego.

Rod Kent, Delmar Robinson, Joe Sheehan, and Beryl Tracy leave their cars to the innocent freshman girls. Think they'll have nerve enough to drive them?

Dick Hilderbrand leaves being sick. Could it be that he wants to go to the hospital?

Jim Hylton leaves his corny jokes to Shirley Pace and Herbert Wilkinson.

Meredith Mackay and Helen Lawless leave their sweet ways to Barbara Frey and Karla Baur.

Veronica Roush gladly leaves to be back living in Peru.

Fred Nichols leaves his place as the Winterset High School Romeo to Donald Haines.

Joan Wilkinson wills her silly ways to anybody silly enough to want them.

Last year Bev Thornburg inherited a love for arguing with Mr. Humphrey from Alberta Fosher. She would like to pass it on to Joan Menke.

Eileen Kordick and Alice Kingery will their sociable attitudes to Gene and Jack Wallace.

Jim Jensen leaves his place as Mutt to Paul Fletcher.

Jay Wildin leaves his likable way to Duane Howell.

Lee Tidrick leaves his girls to the junior boys with instructions only one at a time.

Maxine Kerley wills her temper to Maurice Mitchell. She is glad to get rid of it.

Dale Mitchell leaves his front row seat in bookkeeping to Louise Bruett. But it'll take some practice to learn to turn around and make faces at the class like Dale does.

Jo Ann Mower leaves to be with a certain someone.

To the juniors we leave our places at the top of the student body; to the sophomores we leave the opportunity of bossing the freshmen; to the freshmen we leave the place of being neither seen nor heard. To the janitors and teachers we say thanks for a swell job.

Class Prophecy

The other day I met an old man downtown who seemed to be familiar, but I could not place him. He spoke and recognized me as a member of the '51 class of WHS. He said he had been a teacher at WHS back in '51, and asked me to tell him what had become of all the members of that class. So I told him all I had heard about my old classmates.

* * * * * * * *

Darlene Ackelson is the proprietress of a tourist camp. She's very considerate of her guests. She figures if they're on their way home from their vacation they're nearly broke, so she charges them only half as much as the family who is just going.

Darlene Bruett has just completed a new hit song about a rabbit who was turned into a horse by a magician. It's called "When Your Hare Has Turned to Silver."

Wayne Breeding got a taste of being an efficiency expert in the all-school play of '51 and decided it was a pretty good racket. Last I heard, he was working for some big company and had saved them $300 last month. His salary? Three hundred dollars.

Now that Jim Breeding is a railroad magnate, we are getting two trains a day in Winterset. He was slightly embarrassed one day when the second one met the first one coming back just outside of town. Jerry Butler and Glen Buckles were the engineers. They flipped a coin and Jerry lost, so he had to back all the way to Patterson to let Glen past.

Ralph Baker is a Boy Scout leader. He thinks he's qualified for the Girl Scouts, but Marge Clark convinced him he isn't---girls just don't wear butch haircuts.

Chick Carey was last seen trying to teach Becky Cameron to play golf. They say she's doing fine. She's missing the ball much closer than she used to.

Jim Chapman has realized his ambition to become a scientist. There was a song popular back in his senior year which everybody talked about in whispers. He has at last identified "The Thing" but is not yet ready to reveal it.

Donald Clark is attending dramatic school so he can become a wrestler on television, but he isn't doing so well. He can't groan convincingly.

Barbara Clarkson has taken up gardening as a hobby and has been having a terrible time with weeds. This year she decided to just plant weeds and see if the garden will overrun the weeds.

Yvonne Conard is now a secretary for a Congressman. After taking the WHS business course, she went to business college where she learned the necessary vocabulary such as ipso facto, graft, and communist.

Robert Darnell has figured out a way to get rid of dandelions in peoples' yards. Now he has to find a way to keep his invention from destroying the grass, too.

Marilyn Donovan is a night club singer. She first got her start while fooling around with the tape recorder and some of her songs were played back in speech class.

Ray Garrett is now the author of a famous comic strip. It's all about a-----oh, well, you'd better read it for yourself. It's pretty involved.

Duane Gilleland is a bouncer in a New York club. As we remember him, he was big enough.

Marvin Gilleland is now a professional boxer. It seems he took his high school nickname of "Killer" to heart. Dale Addy is his manager.

Viola Hartman is making children's records. Her latest is called "Roving Robert and His Rambling Robots." It is reportedly based on the life of Dick Hilderbrand, but nobody has been able to prove it.

Bill Honnold was finally beaten in a race. He was to give his opponent a 10 second lead and let the opponent choose the course, which turned out to be up a ladder.

Jim Haun, Lee Tidrick, and Maurie Wilson are still collecting contributions for a "party." They worked it with such success in their high school classes that they just couldn't give it up.

Dick Donovan was an original member of this combination, but he has now branched out and is making his living going up and down Fifth Avenue betting people their cigarette lighters won't light the first time they try it.

Pat Howell is a successful psychiatrist. After years of research, she has decided that the peak of mental development is between the ages of four and seventeen. At four they know all the questions, and at seventeen they know all the answers.

Jim Hylton is a drama critic. He's known as the hardest to please, and he doesn't like mysteries. Says he just can't get interested in who killed an actor.

Joan Jackson runs a swank restaurant in Chicago. On her menus it says, "Not responsible for hats and coats. Try our oysters. If you find a pearl, you may break even."

Delmer Jacobe and Jim Jensen work for the post office. Delmer is the one that hits the packages marked "fragile" with a hammer, and Jim readies the pens for public use by throwing them at a dart board.

Sponsored by UNION STATE BANK

David Kent is a collector for the Acme Finance Company. The other day he foreclosed on Norma Ingraham's buggy whip factory. There just isn't a market for buggy whips anymore.

Rod Kent is now the playboy of Alaska. Up there the nights are six months long and I hear he stays out until all weeks of the night. That all makes Verna Keltner pretty disgusted, of course.

Maxine Kerley is writing advertising copy for a big soap company. It is the only soap recommended for cleaning other soap when it gets dirty.

Bill Kiddoo, former head football coach at Iowa U., is running for senator. When asked about his foreign policy, he simply said, "Beat Missouri!"

Marvin Lyddon is Winterset Fire Chief. He recently solved the mystery as to who was turning in all those false alarms. Helen Lawless and Shirley LeCocq would turn in an alarm and then sneak into the firehouse and watch the station television set while the firemen were gone.

Marjorie Mackay writes a column of movie reviews for a magazine. It is entitled "Coming Atrocities."

Meredith Mackay runs a dance studio. She can't understand why Fred Nichols needs a refresher course every two weeks.

Dale Mitchell has joined the ranks of George Gallup's Poll Takers. He's found that the TV show of Joan Crawford and Butch Macumber is most popular. Their old classmates are proud of these girls because they've pushed Arthur Godfrey into second place.

Vivian Mapes has taken Mae West's place in the show "Diamond Lil." Go up and see her sometime.

Lynn Mark has become a very famous pilot because one of his old teachers told him he was no good on earth.

Mary Jo Martin is coaching basketball at Notre Dame. Everyone is wondering how she got the job.....ahead of Jo Ann Mower, that is.

Norma Jean McKinzie works in a big city theater. She stands in the lobby and directs the people to the lounge, the snack bar, and the coke machine whenever they look lost.

Pearla Pinckney runs an employment agency, and she's getting tired of having Artie Wright come in so often.

Jack Ringgenberg is busy trying to get the schools to adopt his new phonetic spelling system.

Kenneth Roberts is revising the dictionary so you will know the meaning of a word after you look it up.

Delmar Robinson has entered West Point. He's really a navy man, but he got kicked out of Annapolis and is trying to get even.

Veronica Roush runs a date bureau. She operates on the theory that there is no such thing as a wrong number so long as a man answers.

Glen Seward was elected mayor of Peru and recently tried to get the county seat moved there. However, he was stopped by Alice Kingery, mayor of Patterson, who wanted it at Patterson. As a result, Winterset still has it.

Joe Sheehan has developed a hot rod that will beat a Model A. Seems he took offense from the outcome of the "Hot Rod Race" from the song (?) of the same name.

Beryl Tracy is working for Encyclopedia Britannica. He is trying to find the answer to the only question they haven't been able to answer. Anybody know how many dog and cat cemeteries there are in South Africa?

Charles Tuttle has a job in the movies. In a western when the hero dashes up, there's always an old prospector who says, "They went that-a-way." That's Charlie.

Bill Van Werden is a renowned surgeon. They say he gives just as good an operation as a doctor with a license.

Lois Veltman is the editor of her own women's magazine. Guess she liked her work on the '51 "Boomerang" pretty well.

Tommy Wallace is a disc jockey with a yen for practical jokes. The other day he said, "In revenge for all the wrong numbers I've been given, I will play a recording of Tiger Rag for the telephone operator who requested Deep Purple."

Jay Wildin was recently elected sheriff of Madison County. He has promised to get rid of all crime. Yesterday he caught Lilah Waltz tying a tin can to a little dog's tail. Shame on you, Lilah. Ardeth Williams paid her bail and she is now awaiting trial.

Joan Wilkinson bought Madison County Drug. Now she can refuse to put the cherries on top of the sundaes.

The firm of Kordick and Lord has published LeRoy Worm's memoirs of his high school days. I hear it's been banned in Boston.

Vanna Lee Young has invented a new type of purse with a zipper in the bottom. She says that's where she always finds whatever she's looking for anyway.

* * * * * * * *

Well, I guess that's about all. It seems funny that I never did recognize that teacher. But I guess time changes us all.
